

THE Big 3

EPISODE: 265

TITLE: The 'New Normal' Will Need Daring New Leaders

It seems in many ways Believers are entering into a “new normal” that will cause us to reconsider how and why we do a lot of things... including, and maybe especially, as Church leaders worldwide.

Here are three key things to believe and consider about leading in the ‘new normal’:

1. Trying to do online versions of everything you’ve been doing in ministry while waiting for things to return to normal is shortsighted. There will definitely be a “new normal” going forward as a culture, as the Church together. Will you be the daring and humble new leader that we all need right now?
2. God is not surprised by anything that is happening today. He loves his kids and desires that these times would draw us closer to Him and closer together. Ask the powerful, creative Spirit of God, who moved mountains at the Creation, to help you find new ways of leading, guiding, and encouraging others. Don’t just be an imitator; be an innovator, and remember that the most Glorious One loves you! So you don’t have to fear what others think about you trying new things.
3. Look for ways to be the “guide” and equipper for those in your family, church, and community. Don’t just “do” everything for your folks to consume. Share leadership like never before. Trust that God can and will glorify himself through others who may do things differently than you have in the past. That’s good! We need something different and new right now!
