

THE Big 3

EPISODE: 313

TITLE: Becoming a Family on Mission Pt.1

Many people need to understand and experience life in our perfect Father's family and life in the Kingdom before they fully understand the love of God. This is a big part of making disciples!

Here are three key things to believe and consider about living as a Family on Mission...

1. Your family is your first mission field for making disciples. Are you bringing a level of intentionality to your family life—especially in the area of discipleship and spiritual growth—that you want to... hope to? You'll rarely if ever find a group of people more important, and that you'll have more opportunity to make a great spiritual impact on. Now and in the future.
2. Your family was given to you and exists as a Kingdom outpost. The greatest picture of the Gospel, and what the Kingdom of God is really like, can be learned and displayed through our marriage and family. When others see your love, friendships, fun, fighting, forgiving, and grace, it becomes very attractive to them. That's because they were created to experience God's love in those same ways.
3. When looking at your own family life and rhythms, are there often others included? Would people wanting to know how to follow Jesus and live life fully in the Kingdom of God be able to hang out with you and learn this gospel-saturated lifestyle? If you think you have room for growth in this (we all do) please don't hope that things will somehow accidentally change. Get equipped, start walking with others who have lives and families worth imitating and learn from them.

If you are interested in being in a coaching and mentorship with Caesar and his wife, Tina, to learn a lifestyle of discipleship and mission, new cohorts are beginning soon. Start experiencing greater spiritual freedom and relational peace today!

Check out: everydaydisciple.com/coaching

Thanks for listening... I'll see you in the next episode!

Caesar