TITLE: Could a 2nd Job Be Part of Your Calling?

Does your current ministry role and lifestyle help you realize and experience what people in your city really face—the things that are really on their hearts? Believers and not-yet-believers? Maybe God has been preparing you for the next part of his calling on your life.

Here are three things to consider about your calling...

- 1. Does your current ministry role and lifestyle help you realize and experience what people really face, and fear, and the things that are really on their hearts? Believers and not-yet-believers? Our lives are not really that different because of our role on a church staff. People aren't that different. They really, really aren't. But when we're in a bubble where we only talk about our programs and who's signed up and who's supposed to be here, but they didn't show up... Or how do we fix this or that church programming issue? That's not the same, that's not the same as life on life that God may want us leaders to experience with people.
- 2. Ephesians 2:10 in the ESV “For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand, that we should walk in them.” Could it be that part of your calling, part of what God has prepared for you in advance to do—for his glory—may not be contained within vocational ministry? You bet! Is your heart open to that being a possibility? We get to pray and ask him right now.
- 3. In what ways may God be preparing you for a job outside traditional church work? Can you look back over your life, education, experiences and see that God has been preparing you for something other than what you're currently doing, or in addition to what you're doing? I feel like every season of my life has been directly preparing me for what God was leading me to next. And I have absolutely loved and grown during every new season. Trust our good Father for what he is doing in you now for what he plans to do with, and for you, for his glory in the future!
