

EPIISODE: 498

TITLE: A Community of Welcome In a City of Loneliness

A culture of connection is vital to creating the changes needed in our society... and the Church is perfectly fitted to be a massive part of that change, today.

Here are three key things to remember and consider about loneliness and isolation:

1. There's an important intersection right now between the church and society around the epidemic of loneliness. We need to understand that this is a significant issue. Just like the smoking epidemic, which we recognized as harmful and issued reports about, society is now saying that being alone and living isolated is bad for you in many ways. This issue is providing us, as the church and God's family, a significant opportunity.
2. We want you to know how dearly loved you are by God and that his welcome is our invitation to welcome others. It's not something we have to do out of duty, but something we get to do because we have everything we need in Jesus. That's beautiful!
3. If you're wondering how to get started and feel God moving your heart toward taking action, that's great! If you're interested in starting something like a "Brunch Church," you can head over to the show notes for this episode and get connected with Gino, who will help you out. In the meantime, you're invited to help set the table in Germantown. We can do this together! Let's help a brand new "Brunch Church" get going and provide an open door and a seat at the table for many new brothers and sisters.
