TITLE: Why Every Disciple-maker Needs a Coach

Life and ministry accelerate when you have someone help you call plays and develop strategies as you make disciples and live out this amazing Kingdom life.

Here are three things to believe and consider about finding a coach to walk with you:

- 1. God wants to encourage, comfort, and urge you to live your Christian life to the fullest. Now... not someday. Right now may be your time to connect with a mature brother or sister who can walk with you and guide you in making your family and/or community all that God has placed it on your hearts to be! There is no more important investment in your kids' life or the lives of those God has called you to minister to than growing, maturing, and getting unstuck in the areas you desire to see change and grow.
- 2. It is for such a time as this that you, your family, or church team have come together. God has placed people all around you who are literally dying to find community and faith. Just having the desire to truly live on mission and make disciples as a lifestyle is not the same as actually DOING it! The gospel tells us that God loves us exactly the same if we are discipleship rockstars or if we keep putting it off... (that's really Good News!) But God is also extending you the invitation to change all that. When will be the time you get unstuck and get started learning from those that have gone before you?
- 3. Get more information on what it could look like for you, your spouse (if you have one), or your team to start being coached and mentored right now. Do your research. Pray about the opportunities you find. Minimally, check out the info on my coaching opportunities, and fill out my coaching application to get your questions answered.
